1. DIN PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

From the date Indian government has allowed private companies to work in insurance business, there is stiff competition between private companies and government companies and even among private companies. Though the roots of government insurance companies are very deep in this country, private companies are giving enough fight to them. Private sector companies are very professional in their attitude and they are providing value added services.

Due to privatization of insurance business many job opportunities have been created, usually they consider the students of commerce field. A student who has done a diploma course in insurance business will definitely have good prospects of getting a job. Moreover, this course will help to get a promotion for those already working in the insurance field.

In the beginning phase of their work these private sector insurance companies have concentrated only in urban areas but later on they will expand their operation in rural areas, so the students in rural areas will even get the benefits of such courses.

Moreover such a type of course is normally not provided by any universities especially through distance learning. So this course may help the students in choosing and building their career in the insurance field especially when they are undergraduate students.
